

U. S. MUST STOP WASTE, SAYS GLASS

That the people of the United States have embarked on an era of extravagance which must be curtailed by the inauguration of a spirit of thrift was the message Secretary of the Treasury Carter Glass brought to the credit section of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association meeting last night at the Raleigh Hotel.

Secretary Glass outlined the changes brought about in the financial and general business world since the inauguration of the Federal reserve system.

"The Federal reserve system," declared the Secretary, "not only saved us from panic, but it enabled us to win the war."

"The danger of the Federal reserve system, however, is that it has made credit too easy. The time is quickly approaching when we should take thought of the morrow and be prudent men of business. We have embarked on an era of extravagance."

"France, torn and devastated by war, will pay off her national indebtedness before us. She will be enabled to do so because her people are incited with the habit of thrift. The average French citizen lives comfortably on what the average American wastes."

Pre-War Taxation.
Secretary Glass urged business men to take a more active and a livelier interest in public affairs. Under the system of taxation prior to the war, he pointed out, the responsibility for public expenditures could not be determined. There was an indirect invisible system of taxation. The average man did not know how or when he paid taxes to the United States Treasury.

"Now the major volume of the burden is in direct taxes," the Secretary said. "It is a detestable system of taxation, but we are trying to make it as unburdenable as possible."

Mr. Glass spoke in favor of a national budget system, declaring that it would put a restraint on Congress and that the taxpayer could readily determine whether the President and his executive officers or whether Congress was responsible for excessive expenditures. He said this system would put a stop at both ends to wasting money.

"Before many years business men of the world will have to meet many as a competitor in the markets of the world," said the Secretary.

Thrift Is Solution.

He emphasized that the European countries had greater recuperative powers than the United States, and that unless we formed the habit of thrift and saving we could not maintain our position as a creditor nation. The average American loves to spend money more than he loves to make money, the Secretary said, and it was necessary to develop a spirit of thrift, "not of penuriousness or curtailment that might be characterized as stinginess, but thrift and saving in order that the prosperity we now enjoy may be everlasting."

The meeting was presided over by David F. Sanger, chairman of the credit section of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association. Lester Laneburg introduced the principal speaker of the evening. Other speakers were E. V. Ostermayr, of Woodward & Lothrop, and C. W. Boyd, manager of the credit bureau.

ARREST BIRTH CONTROL AGENTS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Genevieve Grandcourt, forty-six, and Miss Kitty Marion, forty-eight, were arrested last night in front of the Hotel Claridge, charged with obstructing traffic. They were selling the "Birth Control Review." Their arrest was a result of a campaign instituted by the police to clear up the section from Forty-second street to Forty-seventh street on Broadway. The two charged the arrest was inspired by "rich women."

RED PROPAGANDA IN SCHOOLS.

PINEY BRANCH CIVIC SOCIETY TO RECRUIT

In line with the plan of the Federation of Citizens' Associations to broaden the scope of the citizen bodies in Washington by increasing their membership, at a meeting of the Piney Branch Citizens' Association, in the Iowa Avenue Methodist Church, last night it was decided to begin a campaign for new members November 22. On the recommendation of G. L. Shorey, chairman of the membership committee, a house to house canvass will be made.

A discussion arose last night over the right of certain residents of the "Saul's Addition" area, in which Piney Branch is located, to keep double garages. It is stated that many residents of this section have built double garages, one-half being used for the owner's car, the other half being rented. This, it was intimated, was in violation of the deeds under which property owners secured their land in this residential section, when it was guaranteed that no business of this kind would be permitted.

Members last night stated that a double garage was a "public garage." George A. Finch, chairman of the committee on law and order, was instructed to look into the matter and report his findings at the next meeting.

Indians Discover Bones Of Giant They Declare Was Related to Gods

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 14.—Indians in the state of Vera Cruz have discovered the fossilized remains of a giant who they declare was related to their gods. The skeleton was that of a man 32 feet 10 inches in height.

The natives erected a catafalque in the plaza, upon which the giant rested in state for many days, covered with flowers, and at night, carefully guarded.

The discovery attracted the attention of scientists here. Manuel Gamio, director of anthropology at the national museum, expects to leave soon for Nancampila to investigate. He is inclined to believe the fossil is that of a prehistoric vertebrate not human.

For some nights past it was reported by members that no electric lights were burning on Fourteenth street in this neighborhood. C. R. Thompson, secretary of the association, was instructed to write to the Potomac Electric and Power Company and complain of this condition.

The annual election of officers will be held the second Monday in November. Professor Kettler declares that the real German name for Plume is St.

GERMANS WILL NOT ALTER THEIR MAPS

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—German map publishers have entered into a solemn pact to preserve all pre-war boundary lines as well as the old German place names in every future map of Germany. The idea, inspired by German nationalists and propagated by two big map publishers of Berlin (Carl Flemming and C. T. Weskott), is to keep the former greatness of the crumbled empire constantly before the eye of Germany's youth, lest the thought of revenge perish.

Germany's children thus are to be taught consistently that Alsace-Lorraine, Schleswig-Holstein, Posen, Silesia and the ceded portions of east and west Prussia are still integral parts of the German empire, but temporarily occupied by predatory adversaries from whose lairs they must be wrested.

A certain Professor Kettler, writing in the pan-German Deutsche Zeitung, advocates an extension of German designations into the erstwhile own domains. Nancy is to be written Nanzig on German maps. Udine is changed to Weiden.

Carrying this idea to extremes, Professor Kettler declares that the real German name for Plume is St.

HOME ONLY ASYLUM FOR J. BARLEYCORN

Hotels and Boarding Houses Soon to Be Searched For Liquor.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14.—Joshua W. Miles, collector of internal revenue, received instructions from Washington yesterday to begin preparations at once for the rigid enforcement of the dry enforcement bill, upon which Congress has acted finally and which soon will become a law. The law forbids the sale of beverages containing more than one-half per cent of alcohol, so that the sale of 2.75 per cent beer will stop.

Mr. Miles was advised that search warrants can be obtained for practically all buildings except private homes. Hotels and boarding houses are mentioned as places which might be searched. Private homes may be searched only when there is evidence that liquor is being sold there. The resident of a private home must be able to prove that liquor found in his dwelling was solely for the use of himself, his family and his guests.
